

If I understand the premise to this correctly, he's saying lets remove the code requirment and if someone wants to use the CW portion of a band, then they need to test for code. This makes sense to me. I don't go get a drivers license with CDL endorments unless I plan to drive truck. Why get a code license if I don't plan on using code?